RATTLING OF DRY BONES

The rattling of dry bones in that ancient and honorable skeleton, the City and County building ordinance, has been distinctly heard by eight municipal legislators.

"What's rattling the building ordinance back?" inquired Supervisor Low.

McClellan claimed that the regulation was coming along all right, that it was in the hands of Messrs. H. L. Kerr, a local architect, E. H. Gurrey and Professor John M. Young, of the College of Hawaii.

"Isn't it time that we put the spurs to it?" came back from Low in response to McClellan's statement.

The mere mention of the long slumbering building ordinance caused a perceptible rubbing of eyes. It even made Chairman Kruger of the sanitation and health committee sit up and take notice and he came forward with his maiden speech before the municipal legislators.

Low claimed that the former board served seven hundred and twenty days and during all that time were unable to draw up a regulation that was destined to see the light of publicity.

"This board has a similar period to serve," insisted Low. "Can't we do better than that?"

McClellan contended that the new ordinance was now in the hands of a special committee, that it would probably be forthcoming and be ready for presentation before the board at their next regular meeting. He stated that the measure as now drafted includes less than sixty pages and in comparison to the former drafts is very concise. He claimed that in drawing up such a regulation many matters must be considered. He favored taking the ordinance up with the local contractors and builders for advice and counsel.

"I favor the calling of a special and public meeting to consider this measure," said McClellan. "I deny the insinuation that there has been any attempt to hold up the measure in order to permit the wholesale erection of shacks in Chinatown. The old ordinance was entirely too bulky as it contained nearly two hundred pages of closely typewritten manuscript.

According to McClellan he believed that Messrs. Young, Kerr and Gurrey had covered all details in thorough manner.

"However, there is no ordinance that we can draft that can prevent the erection of tenement houses in residential districts. That is solely a matter that is up to the owners of property. If a land owner is so unpatriotic as to permit a rambling shack to disgrace his premises there is nothing that we can do as a board to prevent it.

Supervisor Dwight attempted to pour oil on troubled waters by stating his belief that the committee was not neglecting its duty and that he hoped for a satisfactory ordinance.

Among the indelments returned by the U. S. Grand Jury and placed upon the secret file was a true bill directed against George A. Bertram of Kauai, the first white man in the Territory to be accused under the new white slave act. Otuku Owe, also of Kauai, was indicted for perjury before the Grand Jury.

RUSH FOR SEATS IS EXPECTED SATURDAY

Only four days remain before the box office plan for the sale of seats for the great Sheffield choir concert is to be opened. On Saturday the plan will be opened at ten o'clock at the Bergstrom Music Company and will be under the personal supervision of W. D. Adams, under whose direction the concert is to be given.

The great choir of two hundred voices is now en route to Vancouver and Victoria, having made a triumphal tour of Canada and the United States. The concert in the last two Canadian cities will be the greatest on their tour as great preparations have been made to greet the English singers and their director, Dr. Henry Coward.

The choir arrives here on May 26 and will give a matinee and an evening concert at the Hawaiian Opera House. There will be more than two hundred voices, all selected from the best in England. Mr. Adams makes the announcement that all orders for seats must be accompanied by cash, owing to the necessity he is under of making his settlements with the choir immediately after the evening concert. No tickets are to be laid aside. There will hardly be any necessity for laying tickets aside as there is already a demand for seats and most of them will be gobbled up without any delay. The plan is open next Saturday.

The Baker photos on exhibition at the Kiohama Art League rooms are attracting considerable attention as the most artistic collection of island photographs yet placed before the Honolulu public. Year after year Baker has come down from the coast, modestly gone about his work and taken back to California hundreds of artistic negatives of Hawaiian scenery from which photographs are distributed all over the country. Few have realized what a splendid collection Baker has been getting together, he has studied native life on each of the islands through the lens and has secured a series of giant sized pictures of the leading scenic wonders on each of the islands. Some of the monochrome work of Baker now on exhibition ranks as the most effective work of the kind ever done here. Baker's photos from Hawaii are now displayed in all the Western art stores.

This modest young man has at last been "discovered" by the Kiohama Art League, although he has long been known in San Francisco. Baker leaves on Saturday for the coast with nearly a ton of Hawaiian negatives to add to his large collection. Baker spreads his work everywhere before the tourist in our mainland possession. This afternoon is the last on which the pictures will be exhibited at the Art League, they have been a revelation even to the kamaaina.

The public is most cordially invited to view this grand collection of photos. There is no admission fee.

Lieut. H. E. Honeywell of the Missouri National Guard will start on a balloon trip from San Antonio, Tex. He and a companion hope to reach Canada, establishing a world's record.

MERCHANTS TALK OF CLOSING JUNE 22

The movement for a closing of business houses in Honolulu on June 22, Coronation Day, seems to be growing. It may be recommended by the Merchants' Association when the association holds a meeting this afternoon. A number of individual merchants have practically decided to close either all day or during the afternoon.

The Chamber of Commerce is sending out announcements of the action of the trustees on May 10 in passing the following recommendation:

"Resolved, That the Board of Trustees of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce recommends to its members the observance of June 22nd, 1911, as a general holiday in honor of the coronation of George V, King of Great Britain and Ireland."

ARMY NOTES.

Officer on Commission.
That there will be an army officer on the sanitary commission was the request of Governor Frear, who asked the War Department for the appointment of Major Winslow, Engineer Corps. As Winslow has gone to Panama, and if there is an officer still wanted on the commission, it is likely that Captain W. F. Wootan will be designated, according to the Army and Navy Journal.

Gun Carriages Soon.
In October the gun carriages for the big fourteen-inch guns at De Russy are expected to arrive from the Coast, but it will be several months later before the guns themselves arrive.

It will take considerable time to place the carriages in position, for they are immense pieces of machinery, and the guns will not be sent down, probably, until after the carriages are ready to receive them.

The emplacements at De Russy for the guns are nearly ready now and will be in shape for some time before the carriages arrive.
